For the attention of the members of the Human Rights Council

Your Excellencies,

We are sure that you as members of the Human Rights Council are aware and deeply concerned about the ongoing developments in Sri Lanka, particularly in relation to the escalation of violence and the consequent breakdown of the rule of law within the country.

We are sure that you are also aware of the visit made by the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights, Ms. Louise Arbour to Sri Lanka in November 2007, which was prompted by the need to gain a direct understanding of the ongoing situation there. After having direct contact with the government of Sri Lanka, she extended the cooperation of her office by suggesting her willingness to establish a permanent office of the United Nations Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR) to monitor the human rights situation in the country. Ms. Louise Arbour clearly indicated her wish to monitor the human rights violations of all parties to the conflict.

There are many persons in Sri Lanka and outside who have seen a ray of hope for the ending of the suffering of all the people of the country through such cooperation extended to the Sri Lankan government by Ms. Arbour. Our commission has received the signatures of a large number of such persons in support of this suggested proposal.

We are attaching herewith a petition addressed to the Head of State of Sri Lanka with a list of signatures presently numbering more than three thousand for you to appreciate the widespread concern that the current lack of monitoring is engendering in Sri Lanka and around the world. It is vital that this timely offer by the OHCHR be accepted, as any refusal based on the current arguments being put forward by the government are encouraging a worsening of the situation and can only be seen as a lack of cooperation with the Human Rights Council (HRC) by one of its members. The current situation augurs ill for the HRC's ability to be of relevance to victims of human rights violations and must be addressed during the current seventh session of the HRC.

We sincerely hope that you will convey this petition to your capital and take all necessary actions to halt the ongoing human rights disaster in Sri Lanka, which we recall currently comprises the world's highest frequency of reported cases of forced disappearances, for example. Endemic torture, extra-judicial killings, threats to human rights defenders, mass internal displacement and the crumbling of the institutions of the rule of law are also ongoing in the country.

Thank you for your kind attention to this matter.

Yours sincerely,

Norman H. Voß
For the Asian Human Rights Commission

Petition for an OHCHR Monitoring in Sri Lanka

To His Excellency
President, Sri Lanka
CC: Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights

Your Excellency,

I support the call made by the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights, Ms. Louise Arbour, to extend support for Sri Lanka through human rights monitoring of all violations of human rights done by any group whatsoever. I also believe that the sovereignty of Sri Lanka will be enhanced by revitalizing competent and effective criminal investigation sections of the Sri Lankan police through this support by the United Nations.

I urge the Sri Lankan government to utilise this opportunity to address many of the problems that have caused enormous insecurity to the people and that act as an obstacle to development in the country. I fervently hope that petty interests of power and corruption will not prevail against the better interests of the nation and the Sri Lankan people by resisting this move by the United Nations. I see no reasons for the independence of the judiciary of Sri Lanka to be affected adversely by such investigations. In fact, I see the sovereignty of the people and the state being enhanced by such investigations in the present circumstances of Sri Lanka.

Yours sincerely,

The undersigned

See the attached list

List of Petitioners

1. John J. Clancey Chairperson, Board of Directors, Asian Human Rights Commission, Hong Kong
My acquaintance with Sri Lanka goes back for several decades. I wish with all my heart that the violence in Sri Lanka will end. However, we know from history when social impact of violence is so wide-spread as it is in today's Sri Lanka, there needs to be some assistance from the international community in order to create space for local people to deal with these problems. We know that Sri Lanka has so much talent and so much expertise, but due to various factors, these are not being utilized. Well thought out assistance by way of human rights monitoring group would very likely be able to break this impasse and get the local mechanisms working. That is the reason why I support this petition.

2. Tapan K. Bose Secretary General, South Asia Forum for Human Rights, Kathmandu, Nepal
If criminal actions, particularly abuse of authority remain uninvestigated, the perpetrators begin to believe that they are the "law". When this happens, the people's faith in the law is destroyed and society descends into barbarism. It is absolutely necessary that crimes, particularly those committed by persons in authority must be investigated by an independent agency to prevent fragmentation of the society.

3. Basil Fernando Director, Asian Human Rights Commission, Hong Kong
There is no basis at all to the claim that the UN human rights monitoring mission will become a substitute for local mechanisms. I was the officer in charge of human rights monitoring in the human rights component of the UN Transitional Authority for Cambodia (UNTAC). Our monitoring work was done within the framework of the Cambodian law and we only had the right to initiate the investigations. All matters relating to adjudication had to be done through the local courts. Therefore this kind of field presence of the OHCHR and their investigations do not in any way interfere with the local judiciary. It in fact enhances the power of the local judiciary, because if no investigations are conducted into crimes then there is nothing that the judiciary can do in order to ensure that justice is done in these cases. Not to investigate into crimes, which include human rights abuses is serious interference with the judiciary. In fact, such non-investigation into crimes makes the judiciary irrelevant. Also, initiatives to investigate by the UN will break down the political interference to prevent investigations. Thereby local mechanisms can be activated. If that is done, the Sri Lankan people – all of them – will have the benefit of functional justice institutions and the rule of law, which Sri Lanka has for the most part lost.

It is amply evident that human rights violations are widespread. Until a just and long lasting solution is achieved to the national question by means of a constitutional framework based on power sharing and with appropriate safeguards, the human rights situation may continue to deteriorate. The teardrop of Sri Lanka is the violence in the island, perpetrated against the ordinary Sri Lankans. This is primarily because of the failure in the criminal justice system in Sri Lanka. There can be no improvement in the current situation in Sri Lanka, without a functioning criminal justice system. When the world offer help the honesty to serve the people is proved by accepting it. All Sri Lankans deserve good governance, and a good criminal justice system is one of the foundation stones for it. The monitoring mission is the cement by which this foundation could be fixed and later a better Sri Lanka could be built upon it.

The UN is a family of nations consisting of member states, like children. While the UN recognizes each nation to be a 'sovereign state', like a good parent, it will not interfere unless help is requested. Sri Lanka's recent history has shown that as a sovereign state, it has not only abused its sovereign power but continues to do so. Yet, the UN will not interfere until and unless SL, if it is a peace-abiding nation, requests assistance. The reluctance by SL to seek help may be a symptom of its own blindness. The 'wisdom' of a sovereign state is determined by its ability to see and feel. Can 'wisdom' prevail?

for Human Rights

263. Michael Anthony Asian Legal Resource Centre, Switzerland
Sri Lanka currently has the highest rate in the world of forced disappearances being recorded by the United Nations. The country has a dark past concerning such practices. The authorities are clearly not dealing with the situation. As a Vice-President of the Human Rights Council, Sri Lanka cannot continue to pretend that the international community can do nothing to help, and continue to hide behind empty pretexts. Without an improvement to the situation of human rights, which requires improved monitoring as a starting point, it is highly unlikely that there will be peace or prosperity in the country.

His Excellency President, Sri Lanka CC: Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights Your Excellency, I support the call made by the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights, Ms. Louise Arbour, to extend support for Sri Lanka through human rights monitoring of all violations of human rights done by any group whatsoever. I also believe that the sovereignty of Sri Lanka will be enhanced by revitalizing competent and effective criminal investigation sections of the Sri Lankan police through this support by the United Nations. I urge the Sri Lankan government to utilise this opportunity to address many of the problems that have caused enormous insecurity to the people and that act as an obstacle to development in the country. I fervently hope that petty interests of power and corruption will not prevail against the better interests of the nation and the Sri Lankan people by resisting this move by the United Nations. I see no reasons for the independence of the judiciary of Sri Lanka to be affected adversely by such investigations. In fact, I see the sovereignty of the people and the state being enhanced by such investigations in the present circumstances of Sri Lanka. Yours sincerely, Jaemin Kim

I led the struggle for justice for all the people of Sri Lanka in 2003 and had to go to jail, for asking for justice and fair play from the Hon. The Supreme court of Sri Lanka. Later on after I was released from jail, I was almost killed by these so called unidentified hired para military groups operating in Sri Lanka within the Government controlled area in Sri Lanka Dehiwela. So as things are still not good for the people of Sri Lanka to live peacefully in Sri Lanka, I wish to join hands with the Asian Human Rights Commission and the UN Commissioner in demanding an establishment of a permanent UN Human Rights Monitoring Mission in Sri Lanka. The following incident is proof as to why the Asian Human Rights Commission joined hands with the UN High Commissioner in demanding a UN Monitoring Mission for Sri Lanka to safe guard the citizen's right to live free from any harm and danger within the Government controlled areas in Sri Lanka. After all the following quoted incident ugly one took place with in the highest security zones and within a leading Government Ministry in Sri Lanka Capital Colombo. So one could imagine what might be the pathetic situation with the innocent people of Sri Lanka, living else where in the country. Thugs of Mervin Assault SLRC News Director; Top hand Stops Transmitting the recorded visuals Dec 27, 2007 Source: Lanka Truth Photo of the day - AFP Minister Mervin Silva has rampaged in to the Sri Lanka Rupawahini Corporation today morning at about 10.00am and manhandled the News Director accusing him and using abusive words as the SLRC has not telecasted the speech made at the ceremonious inauguration of Matara Bridge. TMJ Chandrasekara, the Director(news) has been victimised for the ministers' and his personnel guards' assault. Having annoyed by what they witnessed at their own workplace the employees of SLRC have gathered together at the place where Mervin Silva was seen rampaging in a reckless manner. Describing the incident a spokesman of the SLRC the minister has accompanied with his thugs recruited as bodyguards to the SLRC premises and the abusive words have disturbed the employees at work. Having angered with the recklessness of the minister . Rupawahini employees including newsroom journalists and officers stopped work in protest of the assault by the ministers' bodyguard. They encircled minister and his thugs and held in Chairman's office in order to hand them over to security guards. Ultimately Police was called to find that Minister was escorted out of the SLRC premises amidst of mockery by the SLRC and SLBC employees who were not ready to withstand the harrassments by powerfu politicians. The event was transmitted live as breaking news so that the public could witness the minister whom they voted for rampaging in a public institution in an irresponsible manner. Then the presidential secretariat have odered thatthe events recorded must not be telecasted any more. Minister Mervin Silva has consulted a top official to get that favour done for him, reliable sources revealed. This is an insult to the government and the amount of media freedom is revealed when the top hands proscribe news visuals, those SLRC audience long to view, from transmission.

The petition His Excellency President, Sri Lanka CC: Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights Your Excellency, I support the call made by the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights, Ms. Louise Arbour, to extend support for Sri Lanka through human rights monitoring of all violations of human rights done by any group whatsoever. I also believe that the sovereignty of Sri Lanka will be enhanced by revitalizing competent and effective criminal investigation sections of the Sri Lankan police through this support by the United Nations. I urge the Sri Lankan government to utilise this opportunity to address many of the problems that have caused enormous insecurity to the people and that act as an obstacle to development in the country. I fervently hope that petty interests of power and corruption will not prevail against the better interests of the nation and the Sri Lankan people by resisting this move by the United Nations. I see no reasons for the independence of the judiciary of Sri Lanka to be affected adversely by such investigations. In fact, I see the sovereignty of the people and the state being enhanced by such investigations in the present circumstances of Sri Lanka. Yours sincerely, human rights is a fundamental right. Even though war brings in HR violations, it is unconstitutional to oppose investigations in to these violations. that act itself shows poor democratic values and a culture of impunity. Not everything can be justified by war. If GOSL assumes a UN commission is irrelevant, the GOSL should take immediate steps to conduct an impartial inquiry into the violations. That can only be done through enforcing the 17th amendment. Without independent police commissions, any one can influence police action. A HR commission is a must or GOSL should adopt better mechanisms to be transparent and impartial in its investigations.

The UN human rights monitoring mission is there to protect the people, and report human rights abuses by all people on all sides of a conflict. To abolish is the same as removing any "checks" on human rights abuse, which is the same as condoning such abuse. During the Ceasefire agreement it was the monitoring mission that provided the convincing evidence that the LTTE was a major violator of human rights abuse. This aids the government in its current campaign against the LTTE. Supporting human rights is not supporting terrorism, it is supporting humanity. If everyone supported human rights there would be no killing and be no war. Why not work towards this dream?

The Sri Lankan government should take responsibility for what it is doing to Tamils and Muslims and also should realize that the government omitting its duty of care to Tamils and Muslims. There is no surprise that Mahinda do not see that he needs to act on human violation spreading by his troops. He does only care about his swiss bank account and his family. This is why you can see the journalists who ever identify his assets or secret issues are been killed by him. Therefore, Internaitonal community and the stakeholders pleEEEEEEEEse help us to teach Mahind about human rights and can give him training on how to value the human lives. Asian Human rights is doing the maximum. I really appreciate what you do. thank you for the support! With hope (One day Tamils will get their own palce) Luxmi

As a country we have failed to protect human rights during the last few decades and to implement mechanisms to monitor and prevent human rights violations by all the parties to the current conflict and also in general. Many investigations have not produced tangible outcomes in order to find those who commit, support and scheme human rights violations in the country. This situation warrants a strong campaign for active human rights monitoring and intervention to prevent human rights violations by an external agency such as the United Nations.

this is a calling for the U.N.: Your organisation has GOT to do something, stop being useless and faking your weakness. You are able to act, this is your role...Be the peace maker, be the peace keeper. When will this massacre find an end, as a occidental citizen, knowing this situation is a daily pain, and more again knowing nobody's taking notice of it. Talk about it, act for it. Enough!

People should learn to live in peace with each other. As long as the government is taking care of the needs of all people and treating everyone equally, people should not be greedy and ask for more. The trouble is just created by some power hungry person who has brainwashed innocent people to believe they can get something more by jeopardizing innocent lives. If anyone feels they are being marginalized, they should protest peacefully and not kill innocent people. Also asking for separate state is ridiculous. I dont see why any country should give up part of their country to appease a small group as then evey small group is going to ask for a separate state which will eventually break up the country and there will be nothing left. Instead they should learn to live peacefully and harmoniously. Government should meet with the terrorist and come to a consensus to uplift the group if there are proof that they have been marginalized. All persons of a country irrespective of race or religion should be treated equally and given equal rights. No race or religion should be above any other as they are all citizens of the same country and should be treated as such.

Tens of thousands of child soldiers are in FORCED service. I personally had seen in 2002 many truckloads of mostly under-aged young boys brought to a military base for a training to become soldiers. Until and unless military regimen is removed, such devastating tragedies cannot be stopped. We need a strict and effective measures in removing that regimen. They may never be humane however other nations deal them in diplomacy. Try to remove military regimen in Burma to save millions of lives.

conflict needs a mediator to halt the use of brute force, otherwise the interests of the conflicting parties cannot be spelled out and analysed pragmatically for the purpose of ensuring the basic rights of all parties are recognised. Only than negotiations between the parties could resume.

To relaiate and take vengence you need no courage. It is only to bear and thus pave way for peace, especially when you are powerful, needs courage. I wish the Sri Lankan Govt. has the courage for the sake of the poor citizens of Sri Lanka.

I fear the situation in the country is rapidly deteriorating. Sometimes it makes one wonder if there's actually an effective legal system in this country for a law-abiding citizen to live a secure life. It's not only the war but also the threats coming from the so-called guardians of this nation.
